Details:

Dr Jamie Foong is a specialist prosthodontist at Collins Street Specialist Centre whose care includes crowns and bridges, occlusal rehabilitation, porcelain veneers and dental implants. A University of Melbourne graduate, he completed a three-year specialist degree in prosthodontics and is a visiting lecturer and clinical supervisor at the University of Melbourne Dental School. Prosthodontists restore damaged teeth and replace missing ones. Dr Foong sees patients on Level 8 of the Manchester Unity Building, 220 Collins Street, Melbourne. Call (03) 9650 2726 to book.

Dr Foong's qualifications

Our team page lists BDSc (Melb), DClinDent (Melb):

BDSc (Melb): Bachelor of Dental Science from the University of Melbourne.

DClinDent (Melb): Doctor of Clinical Dentistry, the three-year specialist prosthodontic degree he completed at the University of Melbourne.

Career and teaching

After graduating, Dr Foong worked as a general dental practitioner in Queensland for a few years, including several months in a specialist prosthodontic practice in Brisbane. He then came back to Melbourne for his specialist training.

He now teaches as a visiting lecturer and clinical supervisor at the University of Melbourne Dental School, and is a member of the Australian Prosthodontic Society and the Australian Dental Association.

What treatments does Dr Foong provide?

Crowns and bridges: a crown covers a weakened tooth to protect it; a bridge replaces a missing tooth by attaching a false tooth to the teeth on either side.

Occlusal rehabilitation: rebuilding the biting surfaces of many teeth so the upper and lower teeth meet evenly again, often after wear or extensive past dental work.

Porcelain veneers: thin porcelain shells bonded to the front of teeth to change their shape or colour.

Dental implants: titanium fixtures placed in the jawbone that support a crown, bridge or denture.

Learn more about these on our prosthodontics page.

How does Dr Foong approach patient care?

Dr Foong's philosophy is to provide a friendly, caring and patient-focused setting for diagnosis, communication and treatment. In practice, that means taking time to understand what you would like to change, explaining what he finds in plain language, and talking through the options, risks and costs before any treatment begins.

Frequently asked questions

Should I choose a crown or an implant for a damaged tooth?

It depends on whether the tooth can be saved. If enough healthy tooth and root remain, a crown can often protect it. If the tooth cannot be kept, an implant, bridge or denture may be considered. Dr Foong examines the tooth and X-rays before discussing the options with you.

Are porcelain veneers suitable for everyone?

No. Veneers need healthy teeth and gums, and they may not suit people who grind heavily or whose teeth have little enamel left. Some tooth surface is usually removed to fit them, so the decision is not reversible. Dr Foong will explain the alternatives at your consultation.

Can I book with Dr Foong directly?

Yes. Our published guidance is that you do not need a referral to see our specialists. Call (03) 9650 2726, and bring any recent X-rays or a letter from your dentist if you have them.

What should I expect to pay?

Fees vary with the treatment and materials involved, so Dr Foong provides a written estimate after examining you. Bring your health fund card, and ask our team about payment plans through Payright, TLC or Supercare, which depend on each provider's eligibility criteria.
